The One Another Verses of the New Testament

Of the 100 or so times the Greek word allélón {meaning one another, each other, mutually, reciprocally) appears in the New Testament of the Bible, 59 of them are commands or instructions

These allélón verses instruct Christians in the caring action and attitudes that must mark our relationships together as brothers and sisters who are walking in the light of the Lord Jesus.

Obedience to these verses is not optional and underscores the basis of our Christian walk, behaviour and fellowship; they will also impact our Christian witness. Failure to heed these allélón Scriptures (it happens all too often) will not only mean failure in our Christian walk but also failure to witness to unbelievers of the love of the Lord Jesus, as the Apostle John makes clear:

“By this everyone will know that you are my disciples,
... if you have love for one another.” John 13:35 NRSV

God blesses each one of us with gifts and talents and places us within a body of believers for the building up and care of each other. As we fellowship together within the framework of these one another (allélón) verses we will develop strong bonds of love, which are built on the same foundation as the love that God bestows upon us. In so doing we can rest assured that we will not only please our Father in heaven but also witness to others of the love which he has indeed bestowed upon the World

The Apostle Paul says:

Here is one thing that would complete my joy - come together as one in mind and spirit and purpose, sharing in the same love.

Philippians 2:2 (The Voice)

With this in mind the following list although not exhaustive focuses primarily on the use of this Greek word allélón or ‘one another’.

Verses are from the Modern English Version (MEV) unless stated.

1 corinthians 13:7

The One Another Verses of the New Testament

There is a need in our world today for love and compassion. While many Christians are blessed with different gifts, we are all blessed with the gift of love; as a result we need to share these gifts and make a difference in our fellowships, our homes, our local communities and in our world.

Being of one mind and living together in harmony is not an accident; they are commanded of God and they happen because of intention and submission.

We must be devoted to each other, quit the bickering and, rather than words of condemnation we must instead seek to offer words of encouragement. We must start behaving the way God wants his children to behave so that those outside the gates of our fellowships will want what they don't have; our love for God and for each another.

The Apostle Peter reminds us of the three main commitments of our Christian walk and behaviour towards one another:

- To actively seek to share the sorrows and concerns of those around us who hurting in any way.
- To love each other just like a healthy family should love and value each other.
- To show compassion rather than condemnation when we deal with the shortcomings and failures of others who hurt us, and as we recognize that we too are vulnerable to our own shortcomings.

Live in harmony with one another; be sympathetic,
love as brothers 1 Peter 3:8 (World English Bible)

Let us not be weary in doing good, for we will reap in due season.
Galatians 6:9 (World English Bible)

The One Another Verses of the New Testament

We also pray that the Lord will greatly increase your love for each other and for everyone else, just as we love you
