The 400 Years between Malachi and Matthew

There is no record about which we know where we read of God speaking to Israel during the 400 years Timeline between Malachi and Matthew of the Old and the New testaments.

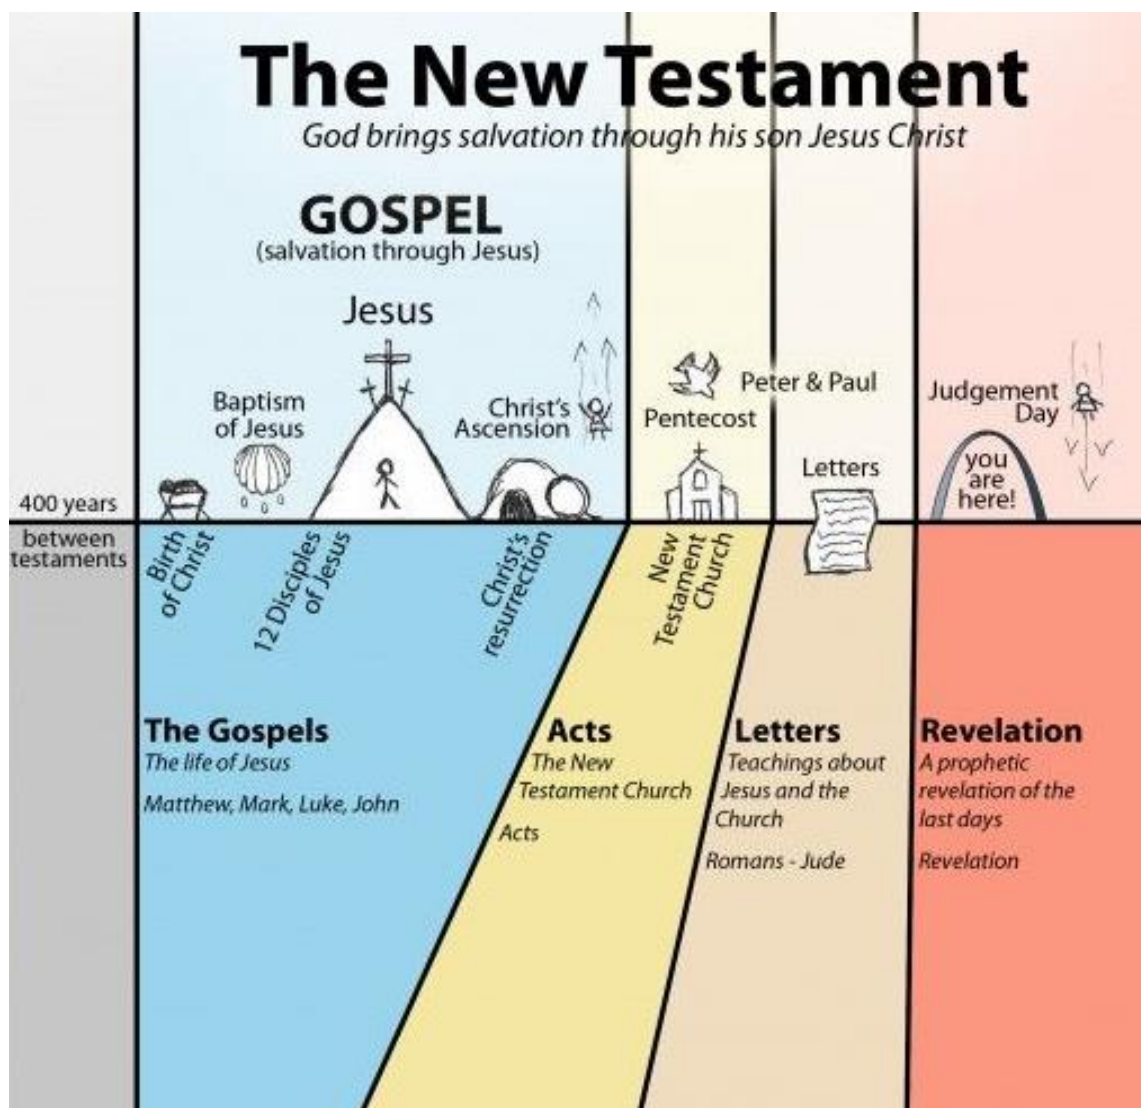

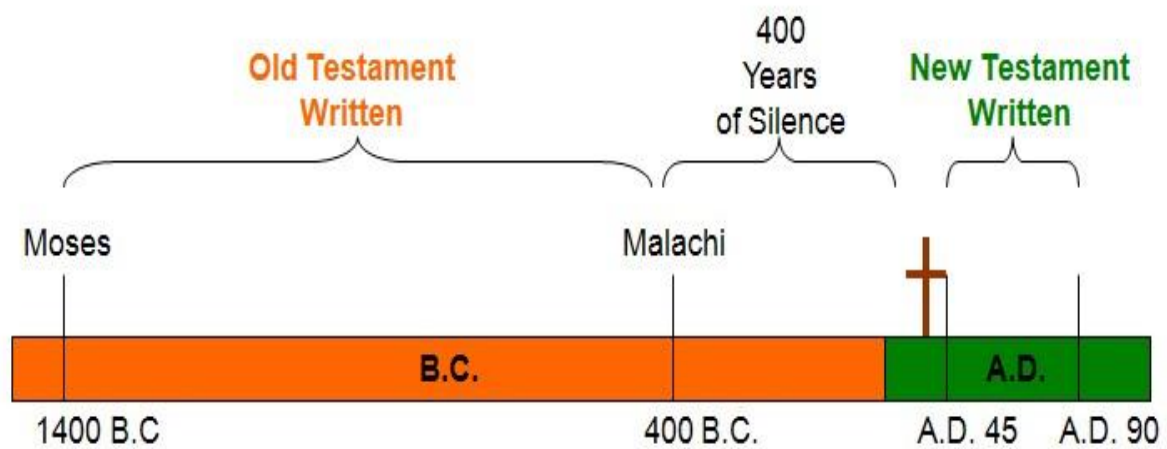

The closure of the Book of Malachi sees Israel is still seeking to be part of the pagan culture of the time, who worship the idols and gods of the heathen; they continue to live by their own laws and not the laws of God. There is very little or no interest in the coming of any Messiah and the Babylonians have taken Judah into captivity

At the end of Malachi there are no zealots and political parties. There are no synagogues as all worship was centred around the Temple. Their spiritual leaders are priests.

When we start to read Matthew we see that the Romans are in charge and we find a nation which is worshiping one God and who are intent on destroying every hint of idolatry.

The Jews have rioted because King Herod has built buildings of statues and images of people on the new buildings for the pagan culture. Even though many have claimed to be the Messiah they now start to look for a Redeemer.

The New Testament

New Testament Timeline with Approximate Dates

When we start to read Matthew we see that the Romans are in charge and we find a nation which is worshiping one God and who are intent on destroying every hint of idolatry.

The Jews have rioted because King Herod has built buildings of statues and images of people on the new buildings for the pagan culture.

Even though many have claimed to be the Messiah they now start to look for a Redeemer.

Rome is now the dominant power of the earth and the Roman legions have spread throughout the length and breadth of the known world. The centre of power has shifted from the East to the West; from Babylon to Rome. Israel is still a puppet state as the Jews never did regain their own sovereignty although now there is a king on the throne. This king is the descendant of Esau instead of Jacob and his name is Herod the Great.

The high priests who now sit in the seat of authority in the nation are no longer from the line of Aaron and they cannot trace their descendents; rather, they are hired priests to whom the office is sold as political patronage.
